

Daily Clock-In / Clock-Out Sheet

INDIVIDUAL EMPLOYEE RECORD · ONE LINE PER WORKING DAY

Instructions — Record your actual times in 24-hour format (e.g. 08:00, 17:30) as they happen — not at the end of the week. Clock out and in again for every unpaid break. Enter a status code from the legend for each day, including non-working days. Overtime must be approved in advance by your supervisor. Initial each line. Submit the completed, signed sheet to your supervisor by [Monday 10:00] following the week end. Altering another person's times, or clocking for another employee, is a disciplinary offence.

Time-keeping rules

- Standard hours: [08:00–17:00, Mon–Fri]
- Rounding: times are recorded to the nearest [5] minutes; no rounding in the company's favour.
- Grace period: arrival after [10] minutes is recorded as code L and must be explained in Remarks.
- Breaks: clock out and back in for every unpaid break. Breaks are not automatically deducted.
- Overtime: only hours approved in writing beforehand are payable.
- Missed entry: do not guess. Write "MISSED", and have your supervisor authorise a correction in ink and initial it.
- Corrections: strike through once, write the correct time, and initial. Never use correction fluid.

⚠ Prohibited conduct

- Buddy punching — signing in or out for another employee, or allowing someone to do so for you.
- Recording hours not actually worked, or altering another person's entries.
- Removing, back-dating or destroying a completed register sheet.

Any of the above is treated as gross misconduct and may lead to dismissal and recovery of overpaid wages.

Supervisor certification

I certify that I have verified the attendance recorded on this register against my own observation, and that it is a true record for the date shown.
